

Wood-Destroying Insect Inspection

Wood-destroying insects (WDI) include subterranean termites, dampwood termites, Formosan termites, powder-post beetles, furniture beetles, old house borer beetles, carpenter ants, carpenter bees, and others. All of these are a source of concern to all Texas property owners as they do millions of dollars worth of damage to structures each year, most of it almost invisible to the untrained eye.

Commonly called the "termite inspection", Abel Property Inspections has selected what we believe to be some of the best trained, experienced and Texas-licensed pest control companies to perform inspections for wood-destroying insects. Abel Property Inspections will schedule the WDI inspection to occur at the same time as the building inspection to minimize the inconvenience to the customer.

Glenn Abel
Professional Inspector
TREC #9089
Fully Insured
Serving Central Texas

Efficient • Meticulous • Honest

glenn@abelpropertyinspections.com
www.abelpropertyinspections.com
(512) 970-2482

